

Powerhouse TEAM

AMY HOLLINGSWORTH & JAMIE LEFF

Bringing over 30 years of combined real estate experience, Amy Hollingsworth and Jamie Leff have become a dynamic team in Los Angeles. Real estate is in their blood—Leff a second-generation real estate professional and Hollingsworth, the daughter of a real estate developer. Both Hollingsworth and Leff have worked in the business since a young age, learning the trade and honing their skills wherever they could.

Their dedication has paid off. Hollingsworth and Leff have represented over 300 transactions equating to over $400 million in sales throughout their careers. Year after year, they have received awards and accolades for their outstanding sales performance. Most recently, receiving the International President's Elite Award, ranking them in the top 2% of Coldwell Banker® agents nationwide. Their primary focus is customer service, ensuring that their clients find the perfect home and are comfortable with the transaction from start to finish. Hollingsworth and Leff truly enjoy selling real estate and find it refreshing that each day (and transaction) is different.
